

Dave Wichmann:

Why 80 markets in underserved populations? Why is that the piece we are addressing?

Patty Horoho:

One of the things that our OptumServe health services has the ability to do, is they can set up drive-throughs, they can have mobile vans, they can set up in schools, they can set up in convention centers. So, our capability, where I think the power of it is, is that we can get to the areas where there's underserved. And we can actually raise the level of care in any state that's there by partnering with them. We can also move. We can go to site, we can be there for three days, we could be there for a week and they can say, "OK, we now want you to move to another site." Then we can pick up, move and start all over again. So, tremendous mobility and agility.
